Hazelwood Sanatorium Is Now A State Institution.

Hazelwood Sanatorium is now a state institution for tubercular patients, according to a bill passed by the General Assembly last week.

The Sanatorium is one of three in Kentucky, but it is the only one which has been receiving people from over the entire state, as the other two are open only to county cases. The law provides that the county from which the patient comes shall pay for his treatment if he is not able to do so.

The Federal Government offered to buy Hazelwood as a Sanatorium for its ex-service men. However, it was thought better to keep it as a state institution for the need of those who could not receive treatment under any other circumstances.

Hazelwood was formerly maintained and financed by the Louisville Anti-Tuberculosis Association, which in turn is financed by the welfare League. Since the sanatorium has been taken over by the state, the Association is planning a progressive educational program to be carried out, first, through the city and then thru the state in regard to the White Plague, which is more prevalent in Kentucky than in any other state in the country. Archibald MacDonald, of Seattle, has been secured as Executive Secretary and the program will be financed by the funds which are now at hand and which have usually been spent on Hazelwood.

MANY LOSSES

In Kentucky From "Firing" Tobacco.

NEW YORK—Tobacco "firing" in Kentucky this season has been attended by an unusual number of destructive fires, owing largely to more general redrying, according to reports compiled by the National Board of Fire Underwriters' Actuarial Bureau. This additional step in the process of curing tobacco is undertaken because it enhances the value of the weed and is effected often by the crude method of digging a trench in the center of a barn and piling it with logs which are then fired. During the "firing" the farmer concerned keeps an eye upon the process and usually manages to safeguard his premises.

The figures gathered by the Actuarial Bureau show that during the period from September 12 to November 16, 1919, there were ninety-two fires of this nature in Kentucky with aggregate losses of $101,486, whereas in the entire 1918 year there were only sixteen such blazes in the state with a property damage amounting to $23,087.

There is no suggestion of fraud in connection with these cases, since in a majority the insurance carried was appreciably less than the actual losses incurred.

FILIPINOS OPEN OHIO CAMPAIGN

Jose P. Melencio, Filipino Publicity Chief, Speaks at University of Ohio.

Declaring that the Filipino people are unitedly for independence and that they expect America to "make good its promise without further delay," Jose P. Melencio, considered one of the ablest of the Filipino orators now in the United States, made an interesting presentation of the case for independence to the students of the University of Ohio at Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Melencio came from Washington, where he is in charge of the Philippine Press Bureau, especially to address the Ohio students. The speech marks the opening of the Filipinos' campaign in Ohio for independence. Other educational work is to be done in the state, and it is declared that the movement to obtain independence, now being launched in every part of the United States, will not end until Congress concedes "self-determination."

"The American people, through their representative in Congress, solemnly promised independence to the Philippine Islands," said Mr. Melencio; "but, unlike other promises, there is no way of making America fulfill her promise. The Filipinos have to rely exclusively on the magnanimity of the American nation, hence the necessity of appealing directly to the voter."

"I take it that you already know how stubbornly the Filipinos resist your coming to the Philippines, how with fire and steel and bolts they showed the world that they did not desire to be governed without their consent. I am sure you do not now blame us, for our only crime was that we believed in the immortal American principles of your declaration of independence and desired to set up a government of our own choice."

"But I refer to that old misundestanding merely in order that you may better judge the Philippine issue as it is today, for the Filipinos have all but forgotten the feeling that once existed. Twenty years of American tutelage have convinced them that America did not come to the Philippines for colonial glory or aggrandizement nor for commercial gain, but to infuse a new life into our newly awakened national life, to lift the level of our attainments to a still higher level and to lead us gently by the hand until we were ready to set up a government of our own.

"President McKinley said it was Filipino liberty and not American power that America would seek to enhance, and this has been her policy."

"But now America's task in the Philippines is done. We today have the stable government upon the existence of which Congress solemnly promised to withdraw American sovereignty. The granting of Philippine independence will be the greatest example of international square dealing in history. To the everlasting credit of the United States it will mean a vindication of the rights of small and weak nations to exist side by side with the great powers unhindered and unafraid."
